

JAMES E. AGUIRRE

Deputy Permanent Representative (DPR)
United States Delegation to The Organization For the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (OPCW)

Jimmy Aguirre currently serves as the Deputy Permanent Representative of the U.S. Delegation to the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons. He most recently served as Foreign Policy Advisor for the Director of Operations at U.S. Africa Command.

Jimmy previously served as Chief of the combined Political and Economic Section of the U.S. Embassy in Kigali, Rwanda. Prior to that he served as the Political-Military Officer and (acting) Chief of the Political Section of the U.S. Embassy in Tegucigalpa, Honduras and Deputy Chief of the Political and Economic Section of the U.S. Interests Section in Havana, Cuba. He also worked at the U.S. embassies in Baghdad and London. In Washington, he was a Staff Assistant to the Assistant Secretary of State in the Department of State's Bureau of Western Hemisphere Affairs.

A native of California, Jimmy graduated from Stanford University with a B.A. in Economics. He also earned a Master of Public Policy in Political-Economic Development from the JFK School of Government at Harvard University. Prior to joining the Foreign Service, he worked as a financial consultant in the healthcare sector. He is married with three children.